Imagine all the children free of Tay-Sachs and Allied Diseases.

Start this new year with the test for life - Be Tested!
This Calendar-Journal is dedicated to the beloved memory of

Marcia Feinberg and Jeanette Thaler

Two special women, who for many decades were committed to Research, Education and Prevention for Tay-Sachs and related genetic diseases.

NTSAD will continue leading the fight to treat and cure these devastating diseases, while supporting affected families and individuals in leading fuller lives.
National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association

Historical Perspective On Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases

1881 - Dr. Warren Tay, British ophthalmologist, describes first recorded case of Tay-Sachs disease.
1887 - American neurologist, Dr. Bernard Sachs, describes neurology of Tay-Sachs disease.
1942 - Chemistry professor Ernst Klenk of Cologne describes accumulation of gangliosides in brain tissues of affected children.
1957 - Founding of National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association, Inc. (NTSAD) by parents committed to eradication of Tay-Sachs disease and 40 allied disorders; Ruth Dunkell, President. Scientific Advisory Committee formed by Samuel Dunkell, MD.
1958 - Samuel Dunkell, MD and his wife, Ruth proposed a research ward at Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital (now Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center) in Brooklyn, NY. Dr. Dunkell proposed international symposia for research scientists and organized the first genetic counseling program, with Frances Berkwits, MS, as the genetic counselor. First International Symposium, funded by NTSAD and chaired by Dr. Bruno Volk, exclusively devoted to cause and treatment of Tay-Sachs and Sphingolipidoses.
1962 - Lars Svennerholm, Biochemistry Professor at Gothenburg, identifies and characterizes ganglioside GM2 - a possible explanation for Tay-Sachs disease.
1965 - Dr. Roscoe Brady of NIH identified the chemical defect in Gaucher’s and Niemann-Pick diseases.
1970 - Drs. Larry Schneck, Bruno Volk and Carlo Valenti at Kingsbrook, Brooklyn, NY. use amniocentesis to diagnose Tay-Sachs disease in utero.
1973 - Michael Kaback, MD created the California Tay-Sachs Prevention Program and International Quality Control Reference Standard and Data Collection Program for Tay-Sachs disease carrier testing.
1975 - First International Conference on Tay-Sachs Disease: Screening and Prevention held in Palm Springs, CA, funded by NTSAD and the March of Dimes. Proceedings were published in a book "Tay-Sachs Disease: Screening & Prevention", edited by Dr. Michael M. Kaback, Dr. John O’Brien, and Dr. David L. Rimoin.
1976 - “First International Tay-Sachs Carrier Screening Workshop ” Toronto, Canada, organized by J. A. Lowden, MD, PhD and Michael M. Kaback, MD, funded by NTSAD and the National Institutes of Health.
1981 - NTSAD sponsors workshop session. “Tay-Sachs Disease: Progress in Testing and New Approaches” at the 32nd Annual Meeting of the American Society of Human Genetics, held in Dallas, TX.
1981 - Michael Kaback, MD creates International Quality Control Program for Tay-Sachs Disease testing and California Tay-Sachs Prevention Program.
1983 - Dor Yeshorim, a unique Tay-Sachs carrier screening program serving the Orthodox Jewish community, founded by Rabbi Josef Ekstein and Robert J. Desnick, PhD, MD.
1983 - Thomas Jefferson University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, PA, Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, IL and the Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York, NY use chorionic villi sampled from the placenta, in utero to diagnose fatal Tay-Sachs disease in the first trimester of pregnancy.
1987 - Centennial of Dr. Bernard Sachs' description of first American patients with Tay-Sachs disease observed by an International Scientific Conference in New York, published as Volume 44 of "Advances in Genetics - Tay-Sachs Disease", edited by Dr. Robert J. Desnick and Dr. Michael M. Kaback.
1993 - Dor Yeshorim, a unique Tay-Sachs carrier screening program serving the Orthodox Jewish community, observes one decade of service: more than 40,000 people tested.
1998 - More than 1,331,000 young adults screened and almost 700 healthy babies born to high risk couples as a result of Tay-Sachs carrier testing.
2002 - NTSAD launches the Research Initiative which disburses grants for cutting-edge research projects that can lead to treatment and cure for lysosomal or leukodystrophy diseases impacting the central nervous system.
2007 - Present - NTSAD awards grants to the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium Research Project for animal research to treat Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff diseases.
2009 - National Institutes of Health awards $3.6 million four year grant to the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium Research Project.
2002 - Present - NTSAD continues to fund promising innovative research, through it’s Research Initiative, for neurodegenerative diseases that affect the central nervous system.
NTSAD - Making a Difference

Our Mission

The mission of the National Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases Association is to lead the fight to treat and cure Tay-Sachs, Canavan and related genetic diseases and to support affected families and individuals in leading fuller lives. We will accomplish our mission by funding global cutting edge research, by helping to provide families with compassionate care and support and by collaborating effectively with the healthcare community to achieve our goals.

Our Vision

- Direct, fund and promote research to develop treatments and cures
- Provide comprehensive support services to affected families and individuals
- Guide prevention, education, awareness and screening through effective grassroots collaborations with chapters and affiliates
- Lead advocacy efforts as the recognized authority for this family of genetic diseases

The related genetic diseases include over 50 lysosomal storage diseases and over 40 leukodystrophies.

Caring for Families

A big part of NTSAD's mission is to support families in a variety of ways throughout the year to promote emotional healing, engagement and empowerment. We cultivate a strong family network as an essential component of comprehensive support services, and plan to expand our system of mentors.

NTSAD's unparalleled family support network extends worldwide with over 750 members. Through a confidential network, new members share knowledge about home care, medical obstacles, and coping with the daily struggles caring for a loved one with a rare genetic disease.

The annual family conference held every spring brings together families, affected children and adults, healthy siblings, caregivers, and medical and research professionals. It is an invaluable resource for families who look to one another and to professionals for advice, support and community.

As a result of our current strategic planning process, we have a goal to develop a “family management system.” It will enable our Family Services team to support families as they move through their illness journey -- essentially helping families and affected individuals anticipate what is coming and what they can do to best prepare and cope.
Prevention Through Education and Carrier Screening

NTSAD receives calls every week to help couples and individuals navigate the complicated world of genetic screening. Anyone can be a carrier, regardless of background, although Ashkenazi Jews, French Canadians, Cajuns, Irish-Americans are at a higher risk for being Tay-Sachs carriers. NTSAD partners with other organizations to educate physicians and the public about Ashkenazi Jewish Genetic diseases, and is involved in the Irish Carrier Screening Rate Study.

Going forward, we plan to advocate for carrier screening, universal population screening, as well as newborn screening. We will educate our supporters about carrier screening and expanded screening for our group of diseases as new trends evolve.

Leading the Fight in Research

NTSAD launched its Research Initiative in 2002 to fund innovative research for neurodegenerative diseases that affect the central nervous system. NTSAD funds promising research and programs that may lead to major grant support and with the potential to reach clinical trials.

Forty-eight grants, totalling $3.1 million have been awarded through the NTSAD Research Initiative program and an additional 13 grants through the former Lysosomal Storage Disease Research Consortium. These grants have led to NIH grants of more than $10 million toward finding a cure. These grants have supported research in a number of allied diseases including the gangliosidoses (Tay-Sachs, Sandhoff, GM-1), Canavan, Batten, and Krabbe diseases. The projects funded include gene therapy, stem cells, enzyme enhancement, biomarkers and natural history studies.

The Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy Consortium continues its work toward clinical trials. They have successfully identified new vector formulations that yield increased enzyme expression in the brain with little or no evidence of neurological changes compared to controls. These vectors have successfully been tested in animals in short-term studies. The next steps will plan for production of the vectors for further toxicology studies, meetings with the FDA, and regulatory filings before initiating human clinical studies.

As a result of the strategic planning process, the Research Initiative will still encompass basic and translational research, although it will now prioritize “Clinical Trial Readiness” with the increased possibility of new therapies. Therefore, in addition to soliciting proposals for novel research projects, we will strongly encourage proposals that address disease progression and natural history, development of patient registries, biomarkers, clinically meaningful efficacy endpoints for clinical trials and newborn screening.
This Annual “Day of Hope” Event to Fund Research brings NTSAD families and their communities together for one day every September. From California to England, hope is shared through pancakes, glasses of lemonade, plates of spaghetti and many miles walked.

It is imperative to keep hope alive by funding important research work that could potentially lead to an effective treatment for these rare diseases. Funds raised on these Days of Hope go directly to funding NTSAD’s Research Initiative.

Over $132,000 has been raised since our First Annual Day of Hope on September 18, 2011
Mark Your Calendar for the Sixth Annual Day of Hope September 2016!
A FAMILY GATHERING

The NTSAD Annual Family Conference is the cornerstone of our exceptional Family Support Services. It provides over 200 parents, grandparents, affected children, healthy siblings, affected adults and their families the unique opportunity to:

- Gather with people that truly understand;
- Learn about latest research and symptom management approaches;
- Discuss other important topics.

CONFERENCE GOALS

The primary goals of the conference are to empower, support and connect families coping with Tay-Sachs, Canavan, GM-1 or Sandhoff. These diseases are always fatal in children and extremely debilitating in adults. The Annual Family Conference directly achieves our mission to support affected families and individuals in leading fuller lives.

HELPING HANDS PROGRAMS

Another important goal of the conference is to ensure every family is able to attend the conference especially those who cannot afford it. This goal is achieved through the Helping Hand Grant Program. Each year approximately $40K is raised through donations and grants. Every dollar raised is awarded directly to families in-need to help cover the expense of attending. Scholarships range in size from covering one night at the hotel to covering hotel, registration and travel expenses for the entire family. Each grant application is considered on an individual basis and priority is given to newly diagnosed families, families that have not attended before, and families that have lost their loved one in the past year.
Are you of Irish descent?
Are you aware you may be a carrier for Tay-Sachs Disease?

There is a higher carrier rate for Tay-Sachs disease in people with Irish ancestry, but no exact risk number has been determined.

Researchers in Philadelphia at Einstein Medical Center’s Genetics Division are conducting a study to determine an accurate carrier rate for Tay-Sachs disease in the Irish population and to also identify the most common gene changes within this group.

Participation in this study will help protect future generations of Irish families from the tragedy of Tay-Sachs disease.

Your participation will also provide you with valuable information about your own carrier status so that you can make informed decisions for a healthy family. If you have at least 3 Irish grandparents and are 18 years or older, you may be eligible to receive FREE carrier screening for Tay-Sachs disease.

At no cost to you, this study will provide you with your carrier status for Tay-Sachs disease and genetic counseling to explain your results and answer your questions. One simple blood test is all that is needed to participate!

To participate in the study contact
Amybeth Weaver, MS, CGC at irish@tay-sachs.org or call 215-887-0877.

This study is funded through the generous support of
The Albert Einstein Society

Carrier Screening For Tay-Sachs & Allied Diseases

We are all carriers of recessive genetic diseases but standard healthcare practices do not screen everyone for all diseases because the technology does not exist to accurately and cost effectively screen everyone. Your doctor and/or genetic counselor can help determine, based on your family history and heritage, which diseases you are at risk to carry.

It is highly recommended to pursue carrier screening before pregnancy because the hormones can reduce the test accuracy and screening while pregnant limits reproductive options.

There are two types of carrier screening tests: DNA and enzyme (biochemical). Tay-Sachs and Sandhoff carrier screening can be performed using DNA and enzyme testing. A combination of both DNA and enzyme are recommended for the most accurate results.

DNA (Molecular) Screening

DNA carrier screening detects specific known mutations that are "looked" for in the test. A negative DNA carrier result reduces the risk that you are a carrier, but does not eliminate your chances of being a carrier because of the possibility you carry an unknown mutation or one not "looked" for in the test.

Enzyme (Biochemical) Screening

Biochemical testing is also referred to as an enzyme assay. It detects the level of enzyme in the blood. Enzyme assays can be done using serum or leukocytes isolated from blood.

Serum testing is the standard test but leukocyte testing is recommended when the person being screened is pregnant, on birth control pills or taking any medications that affect hormones; all of these situations can potentially interfere with the accuracy of the serum test.

NOTE: A combination of DNA and enzyme testing is strongly recommended for Tay-Sachs screening for the most sensitive and accurate results. View the NTSAD Position Statement on Tay-Sachs Screening at www.ntsad.org

ANTSAD hopes to further the research to find a treatment and cure for Tay-Sachs disease with our Jacob Sheep Project. Tay-Sachs disease is present in the population of a rare breed of sheep called Jacob Sheep. The genetic makeup of these sheep is very similar to humans in the way that matters most for solving the mystery of Tay-Sachs disease. Funds must be raised to help care for the Jacob Sheep. There are now carrier sheep that are part of the Tay-Sachs Gene Therapy (TSGT) Consortium research project. The sheep have been transported near Auburn University where the research is being carried out. You can help care for these sheep or even adopt a sheep in the following ways.

An Opportunity to Adopt & Care for Jacob Sheep!

Make a gift
- $125 to adopt a sheep
- $1,000 to name a Jacob’s lamb

Feed the flock
- $500 for four months
- $250 for two months
- $125 for one month
- $750 for six months

Care for the flock
- $1,500 for one year

If you adopt or name a sheep you will receive a certificate with a photo of your Jacob sheep.

☐ Yes, I would like to support the Jacob Sheep Program. Enclosed is my donation of $________ to NTSAD.

"You're expecting twins"! said the doctor. My mother and father were beside themselves with happiness. They were already parents to a robust, healthy son. Tragically, the beautiful dream turned into a nightmare. When the twins were born, everything seemed fine. However, after several months it was obvious that one of the twins was very ill: He was diagnosed with the dreaded Tay-Sachs disease.

My mother and father's life disintegrated into a pit of despair as they watched their child slowly die. My mother had a choice: curl up in a ball and retreat from life, or take a proactive stance. Always the fighter, my mother chose the latter. She became a staunch supporter of the Tay-Sachs organization, tirelessly raising funds each year via the calendar and other charitable opportunities.

Those who knew my mother knew what a beautiful, outgoing, generous person she was. She always said that when there's a will there is a way and to never give up hope.

As a child, I accompanied my parents to Tay-Sachs dinners in New York City. My mother was always on the forefront, planning and helping and getting things done. She took the nightmare of my brother Alan's death and tried to turn it into something positive: raise funds, raise awareness, search for a cure. Back then, there was no testing. There was no way to know if two people were carriers. They only found out when it was too late. Now we have made great strides, although a cure still in the making.

This calendar is dedicated to my mother, in recognition of the hardships she faced in life and in appreciation of everything she did to overcome those hardships. When Jeanette Thaler walked into a room, people noticed she was there. Her personality was outgoing and sunny; she loved life. She loved her friends and most of all, she loved her family. My mother's greatest hope was that one day this deadly disease will be cured, so no parent will have to go through the horror of watching their child die.

Thanks to the unswerving dedication of this organization, I know that one day this goal will be reached.

Your extraordinary and tireless commitment in the effort to eradicate the tragedy of genetic diseases has made a difference.

Your efforts in raising awareness, community carrier screening and genetic counseling touched the lives of many, bringing hope and promise of healthy families.

Your wisdom and guidance kept us on a steady course to prevention.

May each day bring us closer to finding a treatment and cure.

Thank you for all the years you served NTSAD.
We will continue the work you started - you showed us how.

We miss you.
The Mathew Forbes Romer Foundation salutes NTSAD as its partner in the fight against Children’s Genetic Diseases. We cherish the memories of Mathew, who lost his fight to Tay-Sachs in March 2003.

Grief never ends, but it changes.
It is a passage, not a place to stay.
The sense of loss must give way,
If we are to value the life that was lived.

Those we love don't go away.
They walk beside us every day.
Unseen, unheard, but always near.
Still loved, still missed and very dear.

Love and heavenly hugs,
Mommy, Daddy and Jack

Keep up the good work!

The mission of the National-Tay Sachs & Allied Diseases Association is to lead the fight to treat and cure Tay-Sachs, Canavan and related genetic diseases and to support affected families and individuals in leading fuller lives. We will accomplish our mission by funding global cutting edge research, by helping to provide families with compassionate care and support and by collaborating effectively with the healthcare community to achieve our goals.
